Re: Aristotle Exchange – Rulebook Amendments (Technical Services, Deposits/Withdrawals, Prohibited Conduct Rules)

Dear Sir or Madam,

Pursuant to Section 5c(c)(1) of the Commodity Exchange Act (“CEA”) and Commission Regulation 40.6(a), Aristotle Exchange (“Exchange”), hereby notifies the Commission of the rule amendments described below and certifies that such amendments comply with the CEA and the Commission’s regulations thereunder.

Description of Rule Amendments

Rule 3.k (Technical Services Agreement)

The Exchange has contracted with Eventus to use its Validus SaaS software for surveillance and reporting services. This amendment removes prior language that implied the Exchange could delegate its powers or functions to Eventus. Eventus provides technical services only. All regulatory powers and all regulatory functions remain exclusively with the Exchange and cannot be transferred or delegated to Eventus. This clarification ensures that the Exchange maintains sole responsibility for compliance, enforcement, and oversight under the Commodity Exchange Act, consistent with Commission requirements regarding the use of third-party service providers.

Rule 6.c (Deposits and Withdrawals)

The amendment removes checks as an acceptable form of deposit. Permitted deposit types are clarified as cash, ACH, wire transfer, EFT, and real-time payments (RTP), all in U.S. dollars through regulated U.S. financial institutions. The change aligns funding methods with operational realities and helps maintain the integrity and reliability of payment flows.

Rule 7.d.v (Prohibited Participant Conduct — Mirrored or Highly Correlated Groups)

The amendment prohibits participants from entering new buy orders in contracts within the same Mirrored or Highly Correlated Group (“MHC Group”) across both the Exchange and Affiliate Trading Platform where such orders would result in positions or exposures on both venues in that MHC Group at the same time. The purpose is to eliminate opportunities for cross-market participation in MHC Groups that could undermine market integrity, facilitate manipulative conduct, or increase the susceptibility to manipulation for any contract.

Rule 2.a Defined Terms (New Terms Supporting 7.d.v)

- “Mirrored or Highly Correlated Group” or “MHC Group” means a set of contracts listed on the Exchange and on an Affiliate Trading Platform that are either (i) identical in terms and conditions, or (ii) deemed by the Compliance Department (or its designee) to be substantially similar in underlying risk and highly correlated. Contracts so designated shall be formally identified as part of an MHC Group.
- “Affiliate Trading Platform” means a trading platform offering event contracts to which the Exchange or an affiliate of the Exchange provides trading, order matching, or clearing services.

Rule 7.h.iv (Fraud in Connection with Account Funding)

The amendment prohibits participants from engaging in fraud, misrepresentation, or other deceptive or manipulative conduct in connection with the funding of their accounts. This includes, without limitation, making false or misleading statements to third parties involved in the processing, settlement, guarantee, or facilitation of participant deposits or withdrawals, or taking fraudulent or deceptive actions intended to cause chargebacks, reversals, or other payment disruptions. This approach provides the Exchange with a direct enforcement tool to deter and address fraudulent funding practices, whether committed against the exchange directly or indirectly against third-party vendors.

Core Principles Analysis

Core Principle 2 (Compliance with Rules)

The amendment to Rule 3.k removes language that suggested the Exchange could delegate its regulatory responsibilities. While Eventus provides technical services through its Validus SaaS platform, all regulatory powers and all regulatory functions remain exclusively with the Exchange. The Exchange maintains sole authority and accountability for compliance, enforcement, and oversight under the CEA.

Core Principles 3 and 4 (Not Readily Susceptible to Manipulation / Prevention of Market Disruption)

Rule 7.d.v effectively prohibits simultaneous participation in MHC Groups across the Exchange and an Affiliate Trading Platform, serving as a proactive safeguard against manipulative activity and disruptive trading practices. The rule addresses the risk that certain products could be used across platforms to distort prices, create artificial market conditions, or otherwise interfere with orderly trading. By preemptively disallowing these practices, the Exchange enhances the integrity of its marketplace and contracts, ensuring they are not readily susceptible to manipulation. The Exchange has also implemented technology controls to prevent the activity prohibited by Rule 7.d.v from occurring in practice, further reinforcing the effectiveness of this safeguard. While the Exchange does not believe the Commodity Exchange Act or Commission regulations require a prohibition of this type, it has adopted the measure as an additional safeguard to reinforce market integrity, reduce susceptibility to manipulation, and strengthen its capacity to prevent market disruptions.

Core Principle 12 (Protection of Market Participants)

Rule 7.h.iv's explicit prohibition on fraudulent conduct in connection with account funding enhances participant protection by safeguarding the intermediaries that facilitate participant deposits and withdrawals. The rule targets fraud, misrepresentation, or other deceptive actions directed at banks, payment processors, or other third parties involved in the funding process of participants' accounts. This Exchange Rule deters bad-faith activity while protecting the integrity of funding flows, thereby strengthening confidence in the Exchange's operations and supporting reliable market access. By codifying such conduct as a specific Exchange violation, the Exchange gains clear authority to take immediate regulatory action when evidence of fraud against a third-party vendor arises. This authority allows the Exchange to restrict implicated participant funds from entering the market, thereby reducing risk to the Exchange, its third-party vendors, and other participants.

As discussed above in connection with Core Principles 3 and 4, Rule 7.d.v prohibits simultaneous participation in MHC Groups across the Exchange and an Affiliate Trading Platform. In addition to reinforcing contract integrity and preventing disruptive trading practices, this prohibition also protects participants directly. By eliminating opportunities for abusive cross-platform strategies that could disadvantage participants trading in good faith, the rule helps ensure fair and equitable trading consistent with Core Principle 12.

Aristotle Exchange certifies that these amendments comply with the Commodity Exchange Act and the Commission's regulations. A copy of this submission will be posted on the Exchange's website once that site is publicly available, and in all cases prior to the commencement of trading on the Exchange. The Exchange will provide the Commission with the web address of the posting promptly upon its establishment.

Please direct any questions about this submission to Nick Thompson at nick.thompson@aristotle.com

Sincerely,

Nick Thompson

A Participant shall execute any documents required by the Company to create, perfect and enforce such lien.

d. Settlement Bank

- i. The Clearinghouse will designate at least one Settlement Bank as defined by CFTC Regulation §39.14(a)(2) for the purpose of holding Member Property.

e. Acceptance for Clearance

- i. Every Participant shall at all times have funds sufficient to cover the maximum possible loss such Participant could incur upon liquidation or expiration of its positions. For the avoidance of doubt, Open Contract Positions are not marked-to-market, and no variation margin is collected.
- ii. Upon the matching of a Participant's order by the DCM, but prior to acceptance for clearance, the Clearinghouse shall confirm the required trade details, including sufficiency of the Eligible Margin Funds in the Clearing Participant's Account to fund the Original Margin for such positions, if executed.
- iii. If the Clearinghouse determines that any pending match or portion thereof contains a material error or is otherwise not eligible for clearing, then the Clearinghouse shall not accept such pending match for clearing and will notify Aristotle Exchange of such non-acceptance and the reason thereof and such match shall be void ab initio.
- iv. If the Clearinghouse accepts such pending match for clearing, then in its capacity as a registered derivatives clearing organization, the Clearinghouse shall immediately, through the process of novation, be substituted as, and assume the position of, seller to the Participant buying and buyer to the Participant selling such contract.
- v. Upon such substitution, the buying and selling Participants shall be released from their obligations to each other, and such Participants shall be deemed to have bought the contracts from or sold the contracts to the Clearinghouse, as the case may be, and the Clearinghouse shall have all the rights and be subject to all the liabilities of such Participant with respect to such transaction.
- vi. Such substitution shall be effective in law for all purposes.
- vii. Contracts with the same terms and conditions submitted to the Clearinghouse for clearing are economically equivalent within the Clearinghouse and may be offset with each other within the Clearinghouse.

f. Opening Positions and Position Close Out

- i. Before the Clearinghouse establishes an opening position with any Participant in an individual contract, it shall calculate the Margin Requirement for such position. On execution of the transaction, the Clearinghouse shall collect from the Participant's Available Funds the necessary sum to provide for full collateralization of the position. Should the Participant lack sufficient available Funds to cover this opening position in full, the Clearinghouse shall reduce the Participant's Order to such point that sufficient funds are available to execute the trade, thus mainlining the full collateralization of the Position resulting from the order.

- ii. When the Clearinghouse, pursuant to a new order from the Participant, seeks to establish a further Position with the same Participant in the same contract, it shall calculate the Participant's New Margin Requirement based on the Participant's combined Position in the contract resulting from the transaction. In the event that on execution, the Participant's New Margin Requirement exceeds that of the previous Margin Requirement the Clearinghouse shall collect the difference from the Participant's Available Funds. Should the Participant on execution lack sufficient Available Funds to cover this difference in full, the Clearinghouse shall reduce the Participant's Order, prior to execution, to such point that sufficient funds are available to execute the trade, thus maintaining the full collateralization of the resulting Position. Should the Participant's New Margin Requirement on execution be less than that of the previous Margin Requirement, the Clearinghouse shall return to such Participant's Available Funds the difference between the two requirements.
- iii. When the Clearinghouse seeks to close out any Position, resulting from a sale by the Participant or expiration of the contract, in whole or in part, with any Participant, it shall calculate the Participant's New Margin Requirement based on the combined Position in the contract. Should the Participant's New Margin Requirement on execution be less than that of the previous Margin Requirement, the Clearinghouse shall return to such Participant's Available Funds the difference between the two requirements. Should the Participant's New Margin Requirement on execution exceed that of the previous Margin Requirement, the Clearinghouse shall collect the difference from the Participant's Available Funds. Should the Participant lack sufficient Available Funds to cover this difference in full, the Clearinghouse shall reduce the Participant's sale order to such point that sufficient funds become available to execute the trade thus maintaining the full collateralization of the resulting position. In other words, Participants will be prevented from closing any position, in whole or in part, in the event that their New Margin Requirement exceeds the previous Margin Requirement, and that the Participant on execution lacks sufficient Available Funds to cover this difference in full. Participants wishing to close such Positions will need either to a) deposit additional funds to cover this difference in full or b) close one or more Positions in other contracts linked to the contract in question, with the effect that, subsequent to the closure of such Position(s), the New Margin Requirement is sufficiently reduced so that difference between it and the Original Margin Requirement can be collected from the Participant's Available Funds.

g. Settling at Expiration

- i. Upon expiration of each Contract, position close-out shall be made in accordance with the relevant Contract Specifications provided that Aristotle Exchange may, in its sole discretion, permit two or more Participants to enter into arrangements to settle any Contract between such Participants on terms different from those set forth in the relevant Contract Specifications.

 - 2. the transfer is in connection with, or as a result of, a merger, asset purchase, consolidation, or similar non-recurring transaction between two or more entities where one or more entities become the successor in interest to one or more other entities;
 - 3. in the judgment of the Clearinghouse, such transfer is in the best interest of Aristotle Exchange.
- ii. Any position transferred shall be reported by Aristotle Exchange as a “Transfer Trade” and carried on the books of the Clearinghouse at the original trade dates and prices.

j. Taxes

Each Participant shall pay all taxes, fees, assessments, or other charges associated with any Contract to which such Participant is a party or in which such Participant holds a position, in accordance with the terms of such Contract. In the event that the Clearinghouse is asserted to be liable or is held liable for any such tax, fee, assessment, or charge, the Participant tendering such Contract for clearing shall be responsible for the payment of any such tax, fee, assessment, or charge.

- iv. The CFO shall maintain and make available to the board, the investment reports from all member funds invested by the Aristotle Exchange. The CFO shall present to the board annually, a report on investment selection and results for the previous and current year.
- v. The Aristotle Exchange will manage the permitted investments consistent with the objectives of preserving principal and maintaining liquidity. As the Aristotle Exchange is fully Collateralized, there is no need to allow for the sale of the above securities to meet margin calls. The pooled nature of the deposited funds by members eliminates the need to provide separate investment monitoring or reporting on a member basis.
- vi. All instruments selected for investment of member funds will be from the list above shall be in compliance with the regulations listed in 17 CFR § 1.25 - Investment of customer funds
